READ YOUR PAPER

"To live as a member of the great white race of men, to share its thoughts and its aspirations, it is necessary that a man should read his newspaper," said United States Senator Sterling, of South Dakota, in an address to the students at the University of South Dakota. "The newspaper," he continued, "has come to be indispensable. It goes and penetrates everywhere. It has been said of the newspapers that they are to the whole civilized world what the daily house talk is to the household; they keep our daily interest in each other; they save us from the evils of isolation. "I like to go back to the splendid principle on which the fine structure rests.

And that principle is the freedom of the press. Our forefathers must have had the gift of prophecy in regard to the press; they must have forseen to what power and influence it would come. They had no dread of publicity of official acts or motives. They had faith in the ultimate triumph of truth. Jefferson was willing that error might be presented if truth could only be left free to combat it. He was opposed to a censorship of the press, and said that if he must choose between a government without newspapers and newspapers without a government he would prefer to risk the newspapers without the government.

He believed that public opinion would measurably correct things if public opinion were left free, but that government without a free expression of public opinion would soon become a despotism."

Gracious Manners,

The charm of gracious manners and consideration for other human beings is a quality that develops rapidly if given half a chance. The woman who is always kind creates an atmosphere of loveliness that is like a halo about her head. If you are naturally shy and reticent, it is all the more necessary that you should endeavor to shine a bit. It is not lack of pleasant thoughts that worries the self-conscious, but the fear of giving expression to them. You must try to make

Because six of its eleven occupants snored and kept awake the five other sleepers not guilty of the habit, Sergeant Timothy Reardon, in charge of a squad-room in the local barracks of the United States Marine Corps, has replaced the silent non-snoring members with marines from other squadrooms who snore sonorously and counsel. wonderfully.

Stopping a Leak, A very good temporary stopping for a leak in either a gas or a water pipe may be produced by working powdered whiting and yellow soap into a paste. Press it into the leaking part of the pipe, and put on sufficient to make the hole airtight.
